Kevin Kuhn and Michael Trello began Kuhn & Trello Consulting Engineers in 2013. They are principal engineers of a veteran-owned small business that partners with other companies who have the same values.

"We started this company with the intention of creating a working space that we wanted to go to every day," Kuhn said. "A place that cultivated team work, allowed for creativity and mistakes, and allowed for some fun." The company has the collective expertise to fulfill a myriad of roles in the areas of structural engineering, working with municipalities, surveying, transportation, land development and hydrology.

Along the way, Kuhn & Trello Consulting Engineers has been fortunate to attract like-minded people who believe in the culture of the business. "We started the company with four employees and we have grown to 20," stated Kuhn. "And we would like to continue to add to that total."

Kuhn & Trello Consulting Engineers is committed to providing exceptional, quality work while remaining professional and ethical. Employees are highly engaged in the community by fostering health, education and safety. "We strive to make decisions that benefit the team members. A happy team is a good team," Kuhn said. "Today we have a business that is family-oriented, team-based and is as fun as work can be."

Kuhn is proud to be recognized as one of Springfield's best places to work. "The team took it upon themselves to nominate us. What more can be said?" Kuhn said. The team is by far the greatest part about working for the company. "We allow the team members as much responsibility as they want to carry and the freedom to make decisions. It's got an easy-going vibe."

Over the past year, Kuhn & Trello Consulting has achieved a number of accomplishments. "We celebrated 10 years of being in business," Kuhn said. "We have also landed several projects that will help our long-term sustainability." The company has goals for the future in order to keep moving forward and remain successful. But none is more important than maintaining a quality workforce. "We want to hire people who can thrive in a team environment with lots of personal freedom," he said.

Kuhn & Trello is proud to enjoy a high volume of repeat business and satisfied clients, and according to Kuhn, that is the direct result of the exceptional group of people who work for the company. "We are small enough that a client effectively gets our whole team, which means the skill set of each team member impacts a lot of projects," he said. "The workplace vibe is energized, collegial and – best of all – far removed from a buttoned-down, corporate office."
